

Trainer Profile

Amanda Wichert has 15+ years of experience in adult and continuing education, and has taught at companies, universities, and college programs in the US and in Germany. A native of North Carolina and a graduate of Appalachian State University, she spent several years working with international students as well as with refugees and migrants in the US.

Since moving to Berlin in 2008, Amanda has worked primarily as a trainer and instructor, and has focused on intercultural skills and communication, as well as on (digital) personal organization and excellence and career orientation. She is an enthusiastic and engaged instructor and relies on interactive and participant-focused methods in her trainings. She leads trainings in both English and German.

Focus Areas

- Intercultural competency & intercultural communication
- International relocation (employees, families, and students)
- Country-specific cultural training for Germany and the USA
- (Digital) personal organization and personal excellence in the workplace
- Career orientation

Education and Training

- Intercultural Trainer, The Interchange Institute, Boston, USA
- BA in Anthropology, Appalachian State University, USA
- TESOL Certification, Appalachian State University, USA

References (Selected)

- Dahlem Research School
- Freie Universität Berlin
- Technical University Berlin
- Universität Potsdam
- Potsdam Institute for Climate Impact Research
- IHK Berlin
- AOK Nordost
- ebay Kleinanzeigen
- Universität Siegen
- Hochschule Hof (University of Applied Sciences)
- IAV GmbH

Partner, WITOS Berlin Honsu Rubert Wichert PartG Anthropologin Diplom-Psychologinnen